(Strangely enough I was researching McCabes last year in conjunction for my other Australian client.)

Well I hope that's the lot and that it makes some sort of sense to you.
 Because I have kept it for the last week, and I am not very "with it" tonight.
 Just typing my notes out. Very tired after a hard day.

By the way, I went to a lecture on Slavery at the Cape a month ago at CT Historical Society. There were 15,000 slaves in the 18th century (exceeded the whites. Formed 40-50% of the total population - higher than those in S. America.
 Slavery abolished in 1830's in Cape. Thought you might be interested, in view of old man OTTO !

Sincerely,

Shelagh Pike
